

GI Farm Program May Be Set Up To Cover Glades Area

About 16 Eligible Veterans Must Qualify Before Program Can Begin

Veterans On-The-Farm training program, provided for in the G. I. Bill, will be started in the Glades if enough interest is shown, according to Wilbur Kirchman, director of the Veterans Service Office here.

The program must be started at this year as specified in the bill, Kirchman says.

To be eligible, veterans must own or lease their farm and farm the land.

Combining classroom instruction with practical farm guidance, the program includes crop raising, cattle and poultry. It would continue four years. The bill provides $75 per month for unmarried trainees, $105 for those married without children and $120 for married veterans with children. A full time instructor gives six hours of classroom and shop instruction a week and supervises trainees' farms furnishing on-the-job advice.

The farm training will not be instituted here until 18 eligible veterans are accepted. Those interested are urged to contact Kirchman at the Veterans Service Office in Belle Glade Monday, Wednesday and Friday or in Pahokee Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday morning. The class is limited in number, Kirchman states.

Shootin' Blanks By Peteletto

Summer fever gets even the best of us sometimes. I have a good reason for making this rash statement.

One hot afternoon driving home from work in my Cadillac, things began to get a little dim. When I reached my destination, I sank into an easy chair and completely lost consciousness.

It was early the next week-day morning when I entered the editorial room of the Belle Glade Herald. The walls had been redone in a delicate soothing shade of green during the night. A wall to wall carpet covered the floor and several vases of lotus flowers decorated the desks.

Gaily I attacked the pile of awaiting mail, congratulating myself on choosing such a wonderful career profession. Although my memory is hazy, I am remembering below the contents of those letters.

"Just picked up a copy of your last week's edition that had my name spelled incorrectly. The way you spelled it is the same as that fellow arrested for beating up his wife. However, I am not a wife-beater. I am a very easy-going, laid-back fellow. I've beaten up my wife a few times, so forget it. I didn't get out a wonderful letter."

Troop 88 Tries Out Door Life At Camp

Scouts of Troop 88 will testify that there is still plenty of wilderness in Florida and that the frontier hasn't entirely disappeared.

They made the discovery while camping out last Friday night near Indiantown under the supervision of Scout Master Tom Lloyd.

Roughing it is great, they'll tell you. If you can stand Florida wild life.

Launched a fierce offensive, the scouts decided they were keeping their own blood bank.

Midnight allures of the camp was broken by the stealthy steps of a wildcat seeking a drink from the nearby stream. One of the troop two patrols—Rattenkake and Cobra—proved the scouts can do outdoor living.

Evening events merely heightened the atmosphere of a hard adventure, says Lloyd. Members put their own doors to practice. They swam, fished and cooked their own meals.

Scouts attending were: Lee Braddock, Ronald Barry, David Morris, Danny Griffin, Leo James, Bobby James and Keith Whitlock.

Membership of the troop has been increasing lately, according to the scout master. Boys interested in joining should contact Lloyd or Ronald Jones, assistant scoutmaster.

Local Men Receive Orders To Report

Uncle Sam is beckoning to men in the local community, and some have already gone.

The orders received are divided into several categories. They are orders to report to camp for physical examinations and questionnaires, the first step.

Private S. Pike, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Pike, who completed his Air Force basic training indoctrination course at Fort Benning, Ga., last week, was one of the first boys to enlist here.

Sergeant J. E. Jones reported to Randolph Field, Texas, about a week and a half ago.

Nemec Speaks To Local Lions Club

"A vote for the World Federalist referendum coming up for vote in November is the same as signing a blank check for the organization, which has left all details to be worked out after we have given complete authority," said Jim Nemec, speaking for the Committee for American Action.

Nemec added his speech before the local Lions Club Wednesday to his list of 20 addresses in opposition to the referendum.

He cited the names of several well known people who once sponsored the organization and later withdrew their endorsement after learning more about it.

Many people may vote for the provision merely because its principal objective is to prevent war. They will not stop and examine it carefully and consider the cost, Nemec said.

"We should all study it carefully and the organization be decided after making a decision."

He will speak for the referendum at the next Lions meeting.

Mr. Luther Jones has the misfortune to break his ankle while walking on a vacation. He was confined to Belle Glade Hospital Wednesday and Thursday of this week for further X-rays and treatment.

Tuesday Night Is Weekly Meeting For Draft Board

Induction Calls Will Commence Shortly According To Board

"We expect calls for induction to be coming in very shortly," said Chairman Bob Ernest of Palm Beach County Draft Board, with the announcement of calls for the 5th and 11th of September for preliminary physicals to 105 of the County's registrants.

It is very important that all registrants who have dependent notice the Board of that fact. This applies to those who are married and to those who have other dependents. Last minute notice by those who have been called for physicals will be scrutinized very closely and the burden of definite proof will be on the registrant.

In the new call for September, the Glades boys will be called on the 11th so that a special bus may be used from South Bay to carry them to Miami.

At the Tuesday night meeting the Board had cleared the question of college students, through a call from Chairman Ernest and Mrs. Sharpe, the Clerk to General Collins.

According to regulations a student with one year attendance at a recognized school is entitled to a classification for one year to allow continuance of his education, provided he is maintaining grades in the upper half of the class. A registrant who is a senior the college is entitled to deferment until he has graduated.

He has maintained grades in the upper half of his class during his senior year.

In specific cases the board adopted an opinion to assist any registrant to enter what branch he wishes, provided he doesn't impose on the Board.

School Bells Ring For Students Tues

"Readin' and Writin'" days are here again for the school set with registration slated for Tuesday.

Registration schedule is as follows: Elementary grades 8:30 and 12:30 in the elementary school and Ocoke school; 10:15 grades, bus students and South Bay 9th grade from 8:30 to 12; and 7-9 grades and non-bus students from 1 to 3 in the afternoon.

Buses will run on regular schedule returning children at 1:30 noon, according to Frank O. Hader, bus director.

Students are asked to report to the auditorium at 8:30 before going to their rooms. Hader said.

Students will meet with sponsors, Miss Diggs and Miss Martin, in Room two; Junior with sponsors, Miss Ledbetter, Mr. Litchfield and Director in Room one and sophomores with sponsors, Mrs. Leavitt, Mr. Yarn and Mrs. Langworthy in Room four.

Students registering in the afternoon will report to the auditorium at 1 before reporting to their individual rooms. Freshmen, with their sponsors, Mrs. Jones, Miss Murphy, and Mrs. Hader, will report to a fifth, eighth grade and sponsors, Mrs. Langworthy, and Davidson, will report to Room 10.

Teachers indicated their training program last week with a crowded schedule of events. They completed a temporary schedule outline and discussed the school calendar.

Pictured are a few of the prize black bass "big ones" caught by Glades fishermen in Lake Okechobee in the past. This bass has been disappearing due to the absence of commercial fishermen with their seines on the lake, it is claimed.

Commercial Fishing Necessary To Keep Okechobee Bass, Say Corbin

"Stopping commercial fishing in Lake Okechobee four years ago was the worst thing that could have happened to the lake," says Corbin, veteran of 18 years on the lake and fishing camp owner.

The once black bass fishing paradise here is rapidly disappearing. Green, crappie, gar and mudfish, formerly thinned by commercial fishing, are plentiful now. These species feed on live minnows and bass eggs, Corbin explains.

The baiting wages hot within the ranks of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission as to whether commercial activities should be resumed on the lake. Chief Biologist recommended that commercial activities be allowed again, but the commission's recommendation was the decision.

A regular book of knowledge on fishing holes and local waterways, Corbin has come to the rescue of many fishermen in distress stranded or lost on the complicated waterways and are helpless as duck fakes, Corbin says. He tells the story of a fisherman who got lost and wandered all night on the lake finally ending on the shores of Moore Haven.

"During my 18 years here, I've seen the fish population remain pretty steady. Last year, however, bass seemed to disappear all of a sudden. Now catches consist mostly of bream, speckled perch and chub crackers. Karl Coen caught his limit, 75, of the latter a month ago," according to Corbin.

While black bass have been getting scarcer, new fish have entered Okechobee recently, says Corbin. Starting water fish, snook and tarpon—have been caught here. This is a strange development which hasn't occurred before. So far, no one has offered a theory as to why these salt water inhabitants are seeking haven in an island fresh water lake. Bill McClintock can testify to the phenomenon. Last week he caught five snook weighing 47 pounds all together. This was the largest single catch of the summer, according to Corbin.

In spite of the ups and downs lately in the lake fish activity has been better this summer than last. With summer come the local anglers, but in winter, tourists from all over the world are thick here. Curbin cites several customers calling from St. Louis who have been coming regularly for five or six years.

People have just gotten in the habit of fishing more. "Fishing is like a lot of other things, the more you do it, the more you want to do it," Corbin says.

Commission Sets Tentative Budget

City Commissioners adopted a tentative city budget of $270,744.63 for the fiscal year beginning October 1 at a special meeting Tuesday night in the city hall.

The budget includes the following new special items of expenditure: $85,000 operation of the county club; $3,000 additional occupational license facilities; $2,000 swimming pool fund; $38,000 street repairs, maintenance, and new streets; and $45,000 additional street lights.

New sources of revenue listed are $65,000 general taxes; $25,000 occupational license; $70,000 real and personal property taxes; $28,000 utility taxes; and $44,000 court fines and forfeitures.

The budget shows a wide increase over the $227,137.02 budget of this year.

First and final readings of the budget ordinance are scheduled September 5 and 13 respectively.

Local Guard Company Makes Good Record In Two-Week Manuevers At Camp Jackson

FOUR THOUSAND ACRES PLANTED IN CORN HERE

More than four thousand acres in the county have been planted to field corn this year, according to H. L. Speer, assistant county agent. Big Joe has proved to be the leading variety, but large acreages have also been planted to Louisiana Hybrid and Cuban Flint.

Of the three major varieties, the Louisiana Hybrid is the highest yielding, producing an average of 75 bushels per acre. Big Joe yields only about 50 bushels to the acre.

Most of the corn grown will be fed to cattle in the area this year, says the agent.

Feeder, Stocker Demand Heavy At Livestock Market

The demand for feeder and stocker cattle was evident at the Friday sale of the Glades Livestock Market which had an offering of 410 cattle and 47 calves. Prices ranged about steady for the slightly larger run. About 78% of the total went back to the country.

Medium slaughter steers and heifers brought $22.00 to $24.00. Common slaughter steers and heifers cashed at $20.00 to $22.00. Medium stocker calves gained $25.50 to $28.50 with a few bringing $27.00 to $28.00, one at $29.00. Common slaughter cows scored $20.00 to $22.00 while cullers and canners bulked at $18.75 to $19.75. Common range bulls earned $21.75 to $22.00.

Medium feeder and stocker calves and heifers sold mostly at $22.50 to $25.00. Common slaughter steers and heifers ranged mostly from $20.00 to $22.00. With instances up to $30.00. Inferior steers and heifers made 18.00 to 24.00 with one down to $15.00. A few good stock calves scored $27.50 to $30.00. Medium stocker calves caught the trade's eye at $22.75 to $25.00. Common stock calves brought $20.50 to $24.00.

John Paris, Cleveland, pigmaster of the Okeelanta Sugar Company, accidentally shot himself when preparing to get the firm's payroll about 12:30 last Friday morning.

After taking his 45 automatic from the office safe, he is accidentally discharged. The bullet hit him a glancing blow behind the left ear, according to Constable Ray Whitlock, investigating officer.

Paris was removed to the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital where he was found to be suffering from a possible skull fracture, loss of blood and a shock. Dr. Ralph Pipes administered treatment and ordered Paris removed to the Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami for emergency treatment.

Logan Paris, brother of the injured man and employee of the Glades Appliance Corporation here, reports that the accident victim is getting along well in the Miami hospital.

DISPUTE IN QUARTERS RESULTS IN SHOOTING

William Ray, 31, Negro, entered the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital in a serious condition Monday night after being shot through the chin by Shades Wideman, 45, Negro.

The shooting occurred about 8 p. m. at Ray's home in the quarters across from the ice plant, according to Paul Higbee and Beauford Prescott, officers investigating the case.

Wideman escaped only to be picked up by Patrolman Valton Sheffield on state road 27 for drunken driving.

Ray was given transfusions at the hospital and released Wednesday, according to Ernest H. Fiedler, superintendent. Wideman is being held in the county jail in West Palm Beach.

The Elks will not hold their regular meeting Sunday night due to Labor Day, according to an announcement at the last meeting.

BALDWIN AND SIMMONS ATTEND ELKS DIST. MEET

James C. Baldwin, leading knight, and Fred Simmons, secretary, represented the local Elks lodge at a District Deputy meeting Sunday in West Palm Beach.

SELECT THE SERVICE THAT SELLECTS ITS MEN—U. S. MARINES

Company E, 211th Infantry Regiment of the Fifty-First Infantry Division of the Florida National Guard is a Glades organization of which we should be proud because of its record at the two-week training encampment at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, and secure effective firing immediately.

The training began on Monday the 14th and was kept up in a well-planned fashion until Friday afternoon of the 25th when a division parade was held with Commanding General, Lowry and the 57 men of the regiment having a telephone apology for his absence.

We witnessed the parade and assure you that our boys, as a part of the Division, looked and acted like soldiers in that performance—they looked good and made a good impression.

A part of the training was on the platoon, company and battalion level. In all three elements incorporating both attack and defense tactics. There was a three-day bivouac where the boys stayed in hilly terrain with attack problems on aggressive forces. This rising time, one o'clock morning for a daylight attack was part of the work. Fox holes, machine gun positions, tanks and complementary infantry weapons were all used.

One of the outstanding things the boys report is good food—usual. This is due, we can tell you, to several things. First, the boys are well fed. Second, the property they have functioned properly; the food is good and did function properly. Anyhow the boys report satisfaction.

Pass to the city were indicated to week-end, which is an indication of the intensity of the work.

The mothers are undoubtedly surprised at the seriousness evidenced by their boys and the enthusiasm with which they are participating in the training.
